Note 1:

Only those scuba diving tanks containing not more than 25 pounds per square inch at 70 degrees Fahrenheit may be shipped as household goods or unaccompanied baggage. Written certification of purging serviced by a dive shop or licensed individual qualified to perform purging is required. A tag or label must be affixed to the tank certifying the service was performed, or you must completely empty tank, remove the valve and replace with a plug designed for this purpose.

Note 2:

Battery-operated home devices (fire alarms, etc.) must be in deactivated state. (Please remove the batteries from the unit).

Note 3: As of May 5, 2000 propane tanks can no longer be shipped in your Government Procured Household Goods move. Propane tanks are considered hazardous materials regardless if they are purged or not. They cannot be shipped or stored.
