

Chief Phadra Y. Hooker

United States Coast Guard

Coast Guard C4IT Service Center

Chief Phadra Y. Hooker currently serves the dual-hatted role as the C4IT Service Center's Command Chief and as the Asset Logistics Division Internal Controls Branch Property Officer and Storekeeper Team Chief.

As the Command Chief, she serves as the senior enlisted advisor to the C4IT Service Center Commander, supporting Shared Service personnel as well as personnel at the Centers of Excellence; OSC, C3CEN and TISCOM. In her capacity as the Property Officer and Storekeeper Team Chief she oversees FPD Local Account Management for personnel across the Service Center, Shared Services micro purchase execution and Property management, oversight and support for the Service Centers Accountable Property Officers.

After completing Basic Training in Cape May, NJ in May 1994 Chief Hooker served aboard the USCGC MUNRO for a year before attending Storekeeper "A" School in Petaluma, CA. Other assignments include the District Eleven Auxiliary Office in Alameda, CA, Group Boston in Boston, MA, the Northeast Regional Fisheries Training Center in Cape Cod, MA, the Maritime Intelligence Fusion Center in Virginia Beach, VA and the Intelligence Coordination Center in Suitland, MD.

Chief Hooker is a 2010 graduate of the Coast Guard Chief Petty Officers Academy and is currently enrolled at Regent University pursuing a Bachelors of Art in Human Resource Management.

Chief Hooker's awards include: two CG Commendation Service Medals, three CG Achievement Medals, three CG Meritorious Team Commendation Medals and numerous other personal and service awards.

Chief Hooker is married to Command Master Chief R. Shane Hooker and they have three children.