Mission Support Organization

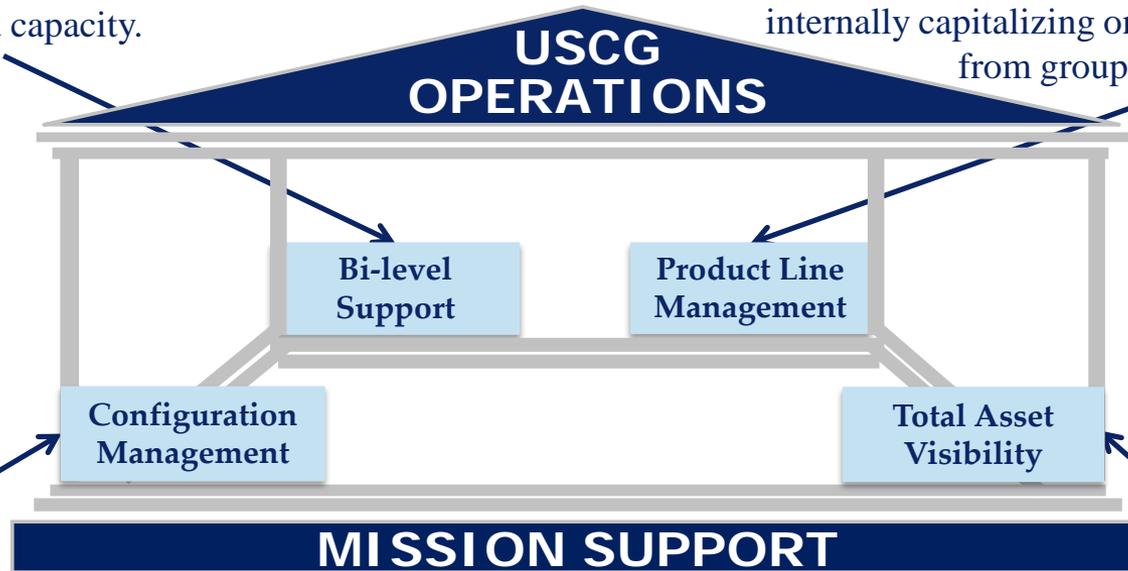

How Do We Execute Our Work?

Mission Support Business Model

Two levels of support – unit level and depot level – with work allocated between levels based on efficiency and capacity.

A means of providing superior support to end users through designated points of accountability while internally capitalizing on the economies that come from grouping like products together.

The process for establishing and maintaining the consistency of a product's performance, functional, and physical attributes with its requirements, design, and operation information throughout its life.

The ability to provide timely and accurate information on the location, movement, status, and identity of units, personnel, equipment, and supplies, and the ability to act on that information.
