

Auxiliarist of the Week

Chris Davis of FL-33 / May 4

Chris has volunteered more than 200 hours to facilitate the Auxiliary Boat Crew Academy in Tacoma and Gig Harbor, Wa.

Chris took full responsibility to ensure the 20 plus Auxiliary students received the best training possible. He arranged for the use of the Tacoma Naval Reserve Building for classroom training where he also taught several BCA training sessions.

Chris coordinated with other local Flotilla leaders to maximize attendance and share relevant Boat Crew training information.

He coordinated the acquisition of personal protective equipment for Auxiliarists who had not received their PPE – ensuring Coast Guard safety standards were met.

Chris also ensured that the proper number of Aux Facilities were available on the training days and all orders were issued for the Academy's underway training.

Chris' attention to detail and dedication to the Coast Guard mission by improving Auxiliary crew readiness is highly commendable.
