The Department of Navy Video/DVD of an experimental test dive performed at NEDU is a Navy document and is not releasable by the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard investigators collected all computer data contained within server space assigned to the HEALY command cadre and the dive team, and collected all digital photographs concerning HEALY activities that were readily available, regardless of whether the data was related to the MISHAP or other events that occurred on 17 August. This action preserved any potentially relevant items or information. The investigators subsequently reviewed the data and identified a limited amount that was relevant to the investigation. Because most of the 19.91 gigabytes of data contained in #200 are irrelevant to this investigation, the Coast Guard has not further reviewed or processed this data for further release.

All data from #200 that the investigators relied upon is reproduced, or reported on, in other documents. Some of these documents have been withheld in part or total.
