

New office and new divisions created by re-organization

Since Headquarters has moved to its own building, some re-organizing has taken place.

The Office of Navigation was created on May 1. It has responsibility for the Aids to Navigation and Bridge Administration functions formerly assigned to the Office of Marine Environment and Systems. The Office of Marine Environment and Systems has itself been re-organized internally to reflect the changing needs of Coast Guard programs dealing with the marine environment.

The Office of Navigation has three major programs: Radionavigation Aids, Bridge Administration and Short Range Aids to Navigation. The Office of Marine Environment and Systems has replaced the Marine Environmental Program and the Port Safety and Security Program with three new Programs: the Waterways Management Program, the Port and Environmental Safety Program and the Marine Environmental Response Program.

The Office of Boating Safety and the Office of Public and International Affairs merged to create the Office of Boating, Public and Consumer Affairs on July 17. The Office of Boating, Public and Consumer Affairs has responsibility for three Programs: Recreational Boating Safety, Public Affairs and Consumer Affairs.

To help you get in touch with the various parts of the new organizations, as well as with other offices at Headquarters, a condensed phone directory begins on page 17. The major organizational changes are listed below:
