Please deny the request of the bridge company for a permit to build a second span . As Detroit expanded it comes right up against all the diesel exhaust of the trucks standing in line to enter the bridge. They never shut off their engines. All the acres of concrete on which these trucks sit create a health issue for the citizens of the area. Poor storm water management from the lots owned by the bridge company and other trucking firms lets polluted storm water enter the Detroit River. Since the prevailing wind are from the west the oily diesel exhaust rides them into downtown. Ask any resident of Riverfront Towers if they like having oily dust settling on the furniture of their condos and apartments. When truck traffic is slowed on the bridge on a still day one can see the blanket of haze from the diesel exhaust rising above the bridge.
