

Chief of Regional Examination Center, Charleston, SC (REC-CHA)
Deborah Myers Announces Retirement

The National Maritime Center is saying goodbye to one of its' prominent veterans. After nearly 40 years of service with the government, 36 of those with the U.S. Coast Guard, Mrs. Deborah Myers has retired from REC-Charleston. Mrs. Myers has served as the Chief of the REC since February 1993.

During her tenure, REC-CHA issued over 35,000 credentials to merchant mariners. She will be missed by her coworkers who will recall Deborah's extensive knowledge of the Mariner Credentialing Program. The maritime community will remember Mrs. Myers for her willingness to go above and beyond to assist mariners in obtaining a Coast Guard Credential.

The National Maritime Center would like to thank Deborah for her service to the mariners and wishes her fair winds and following seas!

Sincerely,
